A few weeks after Troop B returned here, Aug. 7 last, Kennedy was arrested for passing two small checks that were found to be bogus. His father remunerated the tradesmen who had cashed the checks and the case was to have been dismissed by the Circuit Attorney today, but it now will be prosecuted.

The arrest of Kennedy last night followed the discovery by handwriting experts that two checks recently passed on three South Side streets by Kennedy were similar to those passed by Kennedy in August. Kennedy admitted having passed the checks. He obtained $230 and also spent the money at South Street Zebra.

CHANCELLOR SUES REVENTLOW

LONDON, Oct. 31.—The Vossische Zeitung, Berlin, learns that the Imperial Chancellor has brought action against Count von Reventlow, the naval expert of the Teget Zeitung, for slander in connection with the meeting of the Independent Council of War for German peace, according to a Reuter dispatch from Amsterdam.

Greek naval officials are particularly bitter that the attack appears to have been made within Greek territorial waters, only a few miles from Salamis, where a formidable allied fleet has been stationed since Sept. 1.

The loss of life is said in some quarters to reach 200, although the full number aboard the Angheliki is not known.

The submarine, it is stated, warned ships endeavoring to rescue the Greeks to keep off.

WEST FRONT NOT TO BE SHORTENED, SAYS HINDENBURG

"It Would Take the Allies 30 Years to Break Through if They Had Enough Men."

WAR MAY END IN 1917

Field Marshal Says Decisive Battles of Conflict May Be Fought Next Year.

BERLIN, Oct. 30, by wireless to Sayville.—"The situation is as good as possible, and all will be well also in the future," said Field Marshal von Hindenburg, chief of the German general staff, to a representative of the Vienna Neue Freie Presse, whom he received at headquarters in the presence of Gen. von Ludendorff, First Quartermaster General. As to the duration of the war, Field Marshal von Hindenburg said: "That depends upon our enemies. Protesting does not pay. In the hour of war one had better leave it alone. It is possible that the year 1917 will bring battles which will decide the war. However, I do not know, and nobody knows. I only know that we will fight this war to a final decision."

Gen. von Ludendorff here added: "We do not think of peace. We are absolutely decided to continue the war as is shown with sufficient clearness by the measures of the allied (Teutonic) army commands."

More Sacrifices Needed. This interview with the chief of staff was given out today by the Overseas News Agency for publication. It continues:

"The correspondent in turn reported to Field Marshal von Hindenburg on the general feeling in Austria-Hungary, declaring it was one of confidence and satisfaction, but that, as everywhere, the end of the war was wished for. Field Marshal von Hindenburg replied: "That we all wish, understand this well. The Austro-Hungarian people have accomplished their full duty during the war and have made all the heavy sacrifices which were necessary. But still new sacrifices must be made, lest those already made have been made in vain," Gen. von Ludendorff interjected.

"Tell your Austrian friends that there is only efficient means for ending the war: a firm will to end the war by victory. Every soldier and all others must work together, they must realize that no way but war leads to peace. Munition is not all; the morale of the troops brings the final decision, and the morale of the German and Austro-Hungarian troops is superior to that of all our adversaries. Nevertheless, munitions mean very much in this war. At a previous visit the Field Marshal told you: 'The main thing is discipline.' That is true. Discipline is based on the complete education of every individual man."

Asked whether there was any chance that the war would be culminated by a decisive blow, Gen. von Ludendorff said: "Perhaps. The trend of events must show this. I prefer to make no statement."

Asked whether the Russian masses shall be exhausted, Field Marshal von Hindenburg replied: "They are already becoming so; the Russian army commanders have charged themselves with that; there is no doubt also that new masses will grow up in Russia. But that makes no difference. We, too, have enough men. Germany has the profusion of reserves and in Austro-Hungary the reserves are by no means exhausted. We never were afraid of the Russian numerical strength. We know no numerical superiority."

Gen. von Ludendorff said: "Numerical superiority and danger only exist for the weak. Who objects against fate ought better to object against himself. A firm will commands fate. There is no blind fate."

Field Marshal von Hindenburg then continued: "The new Russian armies are as good as and as bad as the former. The main quality of the Russian soldier is blind obedience. He makes no progress of a military kind; only the Russian artillery has become more efficient on account of instruction by French and Japanese officers, who partly command. But our artillery remains superior."

"During a certain period the Russians had more munitions than they formerly had. Their munitions supplies have now become diminished because of the end of importation by way of Archangel and Vladivostok."

Not to Shorten West Front. The correspondent asked whether in the opinion of the chief of staff the termination of the war was only possible in the East to which Field Marshal von Hindenburg replied:

"People don't know what nonsense they talk. One does a great injury to an army commander by attributing to him a plan of war, a general view of war. But there is no prepared program, except one—to gain victory. Where and how that shall be done can only be decided each moment anew on the basis of events. Therefore a decision can be looked for as well in the East as in the West."

"It is nonsense if they tell you that I intend to shorten my front in the West. I never thought of it. Why should I do it? The front in the West stands as firm as a rock, and if our enemies by gigantic use of artillery here and there gain a little terrain, they shall never break through. In order to do this they would have to attack for 20 years, provided they had enough men."

Woman Found Unconscious in Park. Mrs. Mary Koenig, 47 years old, of 483 Grove street was found lying unconscious in Fairground, about 200 feet west of the Bailey avenue entrance at 7:30 o'clock last night. She was taken to the city hospital, where physicians said that her skull probably was fractured.

Federated Union, Representing 3000 Railroad Employees, Adopt Resolution.

The Executive Committee of the St. Louis Federated Union of Engineers and Trainmen, representing 3000 railroad employees in Missouri, at a recent meeting at Railroad Y. M. C. A. passed resolutions endorsing President Wilson and Congress for the passage of the Adamson eight-hour law.

The organization includes the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Railroad Firemen and Engineers, Order of Railroad Conductors and Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. The resolutions state that the President, and the members of the House and Senate who voted for the bill, have been unjustly and severely criticized, condemned and persecuted because of their action. It is further stated that the object of the President and the members of his Cabinet was to bring about a peaceful settlement of the controversy between the railroad employers and employees, and to prevent a strike which

CONSCRIPTIONISTS STILL HOPEFUL

Australian Referendum Result Not Definitely Known.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Oct. 31.—The position of the conscription referendum is virtually unchanged, but its friends all declare themselves hopeful that the final result will show a majority in their favor. The political situation seems certain to become complicated, but developments in this respect are not expected until Premier Hughes returns shortly from Sydney.

Warrants are being issued for the arrest of single men between the ages of 21 and 31, who failed to report under the compulsory training scheme.

The grocer, E. G. Bornemann of 1245 South Vandeventer avenue, said he cashed the checks, which were for $35 and $30, Sept. 23 and 25, when Weber made purchases at the store, giving him most of the money as his change. The checks, which were made out to Weber and signed with the name of a man not known to Bornemann, were found to be worthless. Weber says he thought they were good.

Weber's arrest for bigamy followed his marriage to a young woman whom he met while he was spending his mother's money. He got the money, it developed at that time, by a misrepresentation to the paying teller of a trust company.

11 MOOSE OF 1912 PLATFORM BODY INDORSE WILSON

Declare Much of Progressive Program Has Been Put Into Effect in Last Four Years.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Eleven of the 19 members of the committee which drafted the Progressive party's platform in 1912 indorse President Wilson for reelection in a statement made public here today. Five other members of the committee are said by Democratic managers to be in accord with most of the sentiments expressed in the statement, but to have refrained from naming a presidential choice. The statement begins:

"We, the undersigned members of the Resolutions Committee that framed the platform of the Progressive party on Aug. 7, 1912, do hereby reaffirm our unswerving allegiance to the Progressive principles embodied in this platform, and do hereby call the attention of the American people to the unparalleled achievement of progressive legislation secured during the last four years."

Of 33 planks in the Progressive platform of 1912, the statement says, 22 have been wholly or partly enacted into laws, and of 80 propositions embodied in these planks more than half have been carried out by administrative acts or by laws.

Then the statement names some examples of such legislation and continues: "This is a great national crisis. We are Progressives supporting John M. Parker of Louisiana for Vice President."

The statement ends with the following endorsement of Wilson: "Without a candidate of our own for President, we are unalterably in favor of the retention in office of President Wilson, under whose guidance and leadership more progressive principles have been enacted into law than we believe right have been accomplished had the Progressive party been in power."

The signers are: John M. Parker, former Gov. Lucius F. C. Garvin, Rhode Island; former Gov. Carey, Wyoming; Judge Albert D. Norton, Missouri; Hugh T. Halbert, Minnesota; Frank N. Howard, Vermont; M. C. Debaca, New Mexico; James M. Ingersoll, Idaho; Arthur G. Wray, Nebraska; Clarence B. Strouse, Virginia; J. W. McCormick, Texas.

"MILLIONAIRE COWBOY" HELD FOR PASSING BAD CHECKS

F. X. Weber Who Squandered Mother's Savings and an Ex-Convict Arrested on Grocer's Complaint.

Francis X. Weber, 28 years old, of 2818 Washington avenue, who five years ago spent his mother's savings, $1100, in a spectacular manner which made him known as "the millionaire cowboy," and who served three years in the penitentiary for bigamy, was under arrest today at the Magnolia Avenue Police Station, on complaint of a grocer who cashed two checks for him.

The grocer, E. G. Bornemann of 1245 South Vandeventer avenue, said he cashed the checks, which were for $35 and $30, Sept. 23 and 25, when Weber made purchases at the store, giving him most of the money as his change. The checks, which were made out to Weber and signed with the name of a man not known to Bornemann, were found to be worthless. Weber says he thought they were good.

Weber's arrest for bigamy followed his marriage to a young woman whom he met while he was spending his mother's money. He got the money, it developed at that time, by a misrepresentation to the paying teller of a trust company.

JUNE 3-7 DATES SELECTED FOR BIG AD MEN MEETING

Convention Time Selected Today by the Executive Committee in Session Here.

The 1917 convention of the Advertising Clubs of the World will be held in St. Louis from June 3-7. The convention date was decided upon this morning by the Executive Committee, meeting at the Jefferson Hotel.

Although nothing definite has been arranged for the program, the Executive Committee plans to hold a big mass meeting on Sunday, June 3, at Washington University, and have many speakers of national reputation discuss the moral influence of truthful advertising.

At noon the Executive Committee went to Washington University to inspect the buildings as to their availability for the departmental sessions of the advertising men's convention. The use of these university buildings was one of the strongest factors in bringing next year's convention to St. Louis.

Municipal Buildings Inspected. Some doubt has arisen in the Executive Committee as to the advisability of holding departmental sessions at the university because of the distance from downtown. It is 45 minutes' ride on a car line. The city and the Municipal Courts Building, the use of which was offered to the admen yesterday by Mayor Kiel, also are to be inspected, and it is probable that sessions will be held in all the buildings.

A dinner was given at the Missouri Athletic Association last night to the Executive Committee. One purpose of the dinner was to show what the big convention will do for St. Louis and the amount of good in the way of publicity the meeting will bring. Speakers from various parts of the country told what former conventions had done for their respective cities. About 350 persons attended the dinner.

M. F. Linn, president of the local club, introduced Mayor Kiel. They welcomed the visitors and dwelt upon the worth of St. Louis as a commercial center. William C. d'Arcy, president of the D'Arcy Advertising Club, as toastmaster, read telegrams from President Wilson, Charles E. Hughes, Cyrus H. K. Curtis of Philadelphia, publisher of the Ladies' Home Journal and Saturday Evening Post; Louis Wiley, business manager of the New York Times; Charles F. Higham, one of the largest advertisers in London; S. E. Dobbs of Atlanta, a former president of the clubs; Melville E. Stone, general manager of the Associated Press; J. C. Phelps, president of the Dallas (Tex.) Ad Club; and from the Chamber of Commerce of Dallas. Herbert S. Houston of Garden City, N. Y., president of the Advertising Clubs of the World, called attention to the fundamental business question of today. "This question," he said, "is not a matter of production, but of distribution. Manufacture is more mechanical duplication. Getting goods to the markets and getting them there through honest advertising is a more serious question than production by five to one."

He dwelt particularly on the truth necessary in advertising and called attention to the high ideals now being followed by the ad men of the entire country.

President Howard of the Business Men's League, who is president of the Commonwealth Steel Co., told of the many advantages St. Louis has to offer in the way of attracting more manufacturing plants, and said Charles M. Schwab, who was in the city last week, had an expert here examining ore supplies with a view of some time locating a branch of his plants here.

Pestus J. Wade, president of the Mercantile Trust Co., spoke of the advantages that advertising had brought to him, saying that honest advertising was now becoming one of the new vital features of the progress of the world. He told of how once early in his career by spending $30,000 for advertising he had made himself and associates $117,000. "Watch business men who curtail their advertising," he said, "and you will see that the wise banker begins to curtail that man's credit."

Benefit to Chicago. DeWitt Clough, president of the Chicago Ad Club, in explaining the amount of good the convention would bring to St. Louis, told how Chicago had been benefited by the convention of 1914. "We will bring 500 men to St. Louis in June," he said. "I tell you $1,000,000 could not buy what has resulted from the meeting we had."

Irvin F. Paschall, advertising manager of the Farm Journal of Philadelphia, said that at the convention next June Philadelphia would have an exhibit of 35 cars. This train will be conveniently parked somewhere in the city where visiting ad men can inspect it.

Frank Rowe, a prominent advertiser of Toronto, told of the advantages Toronto had received when the convention was held there two or three years ago.

Melville L. Wilkinson, head of Scruggs-Vandervoort-Barney, said it must always be remembered that St. Louis was "Our City" and that everything done to further its welfare brought good to all in the community. He declared that honesty in advertising is now virtually revolutionizing business methods.

The Executive Committee of the Advertising Clubs of the World resumed its session at the Jefferson Hotel this morning. It went into conference to decide upon the four days in June that the convention is to be held and to formulate the program for the various sessions of the 26 working departments of the clubs.

Address by "Ad Men's" President. Herbert S. Houston, president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, will speak on "Advertising Commerce and the World Peace" at noon tomorrow at a joint luncheon of the Advertising Club of St. Louis and the Members Conference of the Business Men's League, at the Mercantile Club.

Why Stenographers Should Save

The rise and decline of markets bring about many changes in the business world. Stenographers who are making good today may be out of positions tomorrow. Your present employer may fail or be transferred to some other city. Injury may incapacitate you for work. Anything might happen which would change the entire course of your life and source of income.

A savings account is not only the surest means of protection, but the best way to realize your future ambitions. 10% of your salary faithfully deposited weekly or monthly will never be missed if you manage your finances so as not to figure on it. This small percentage of your earnings will quickly grow, accelerated by the interest we pay.

CHILD GETS SICK, CROSS, FEVERISH WHEN CONSTIPATED

Look at tongue! Then give fruit laxative for stomach, liver, bowels.

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm children and they love it.

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign the little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given. Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the waste bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious "fruit laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside" cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs" then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."—ADV.

BATTERY A CANNOT BE RETURNED FROM BORDER NOW

War Department Advises A. C. Einstein Emergency Still Exists.

A. C. Einstein, vice president and general manager of the Union Electric Light and Power Co., who recently wrote to the War Department for information as to when Battery A of Missouri would be relieved of border duty, yesterday received a reply informing him that it was not determined when the battery would be sent home.

"The department has a very keen appreciation of the sacrifices which these men are making by their enforced separation from home and business and, were the emergency less commanding, would be very happy indeed to relieve them of further sacrifice," the letter states.

"The situation, however, is not such as permits the withdrawal of the militia at this time, so that the most the department can do is to look forward to an early improvement in the border situation."

The letter states that the decision as to which troops shall be relieved is left entirely to Gen. Funston. Einstein's letter to the department had been inspired by one he had received from a member of the battery, an employee of the Union Electric, who seemed to think the battery had been overlooked by the department.

SOCIETY

MRS. ROBERT H. WHITE of 407 Westminster place and her daughter, Miss Grace White, gave a luncheon today at the Woman's Club, in honor of Miss July Collins, the debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cummings Collins.

The guests were some of the buds of the season, and the belles of the past two winters. The decorations were in yellow in keeping with Halloween.

The debutantes were Misses Edith Nagel, Mary Frances Joy, Eleanor Standard, Katherine Parker, Dorothy Holman, Lillie Woods, Helen Watts, Sophie Morritt and Blanche Turner.

The others were Misses Isabel Capen, Matilda Overton, Marie Wight, Cornelia McNair, Nancy Bates, Mary D. Jones, Julia Tyler and her guest, Miss Gertrude McCarthy of Chicago. Misses Katherine Pierce, Elsa Zelig and Anne Collins.

Mrs. Charles Fletcher Sparks of 4523 Lindell boulevard gave a luncheon today at the Bellevue Country Club in honor of her niece, Miss Charlotte Reburn, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amadeo Y. Reburn, who was a debutante last winter.

Among the guests were Misses Edmondia Bryan, Isabella Wells, Marguerite Douglas, Gertrude Madill, Desires Gere, Lucy Weisger, Paula Foster and Edou Peugnet. Mrs. Sparks and Mrs. Reburn were the chaperons.

Beginning this week the dances at the Planters Hotel will be every Saturday night from 10 to 1 o'clock, instead of Friday nights, as at first announced. No change of tickets will be required. Gene Rodemich's banjo orchestra will play.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fitzhugh Simon and their family will arrive tomorrow from New York, where they have been residing for the last two years. They have taken Mrs. Washington E. Fletcher's apartment at 484 Lake avenue and will present their second daughter, Miss Elizabeth Simon, this season.

Mrs. Simon was formerly Miss Edith Sterling, the sister of Mrs. Thomas H. McKittick and Mrs. Reginald Frost. Several years ago she returned to St. Louis after a long absence in Mexico and Europe, to introduce her daughter, Miss Alma Simon, who was a member of the Imperial and one of the important debutantes of that year.

Both girls were educated abroad and Miss Elizabeth was graduated at Misses Shipley's school at Bryn Mawr last June.

Mr. and Mrs. Simon will give a coming-out dance for their daughter late in November or early in December.

The Missouri Athletic Association will give the first of the interesting musical affairs this evening, when Frances Alda, prima donna soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, will appear in recital with Frank La Forge, pianist and composer, as accompanist.

The program will be preceded by a dinner and followed by dancing. There has been a large number of reservations and it promises to be a brilliant entertainment.

Mrs. J. E. Melton of Menan, Idaho, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. E. R. Bernard, 315 Cologne avenue.

An old-time Halloween and tackey party will be given this evening at Kleekamp's Hall by the St. Louis Fruit and Produce merchants.

Miss Betty Henry and Mrs. Shirley Mercer of 6880 Romaine place will entertain this evening with a dance and musical.

We realize how hard it is for stout men to find a large selection of up-to-date clothing.

We have been preparing for this sale for many weeks, and will have on display suits of the well-known "Byron Brand" in stout sizes—for men 37 to 50.

Our "Byron Brand" clothes are selected with great care. The best of trimmings and materials. Stout men who share in this offer tomorrow will get a suit well worth having. They are perfectly tailored and will give satisfaction.

Special attention to stout men tomorrow, in our Third Floor Clothing Department, and the price of these good suits will be

$17.50

In Budweiser you get a flavor and a bouquet that are invariably the same—delightful and distinctive. These qualities are directly due to our exclusive use of Imported Saazer Hops. These hops cannot now be imported, owing to the war. We anticipated this situation before the embargo went on. In the hop house shown is stored a sufficient supply to last through 1917. You profit by our foresight.

MAYOR SELECTS MEN TO CONFER WITH U. R.

City Officials Probably Will Hold
First Conference on Mill Tax Next Week.

Mayor Kiel yesterday selected Comptroller Payer, President Hall of the Board of Aldermen, City Counselor Dues and Chairman Gregory and Aldermen Otto, Reis, Hamp, Barney L. Schwartz, Baur and Bergmann of the Public Utilities Committee to represent the city in conferences with officials of the United Railways Co. on the subject of the mill tax and other points of controversy. The first conference, Mayor Kiel said, probably will be next week.

The Charter prohibits the Board of Aldermen from remitting "any tax or burden imposed by law," so that, in the opinion of City Counselor Dues, the United Railways Co. is not likely to suggest the abandonment of the city's claim to taxes accrued. City Counselor Dues said the conference could consider a reduction of the rate of taxation and an extension of the time in which the company might pay the amounts due the city.

Judge H. S. Priest, general counsel for the United Railways Co., did not indicate, in his request for a conference, what the company would propose for discussion. He merely asked that city officials and representatives of the United Railways meet to "adjust differences between the city and company."

Among the points of controversy is the duration of the company's franchise. The United Railways Co. contends that the Charter granted to it by the Legislature automatically extended the underlying franchise until 1948.

The St. Louis Circuit Court has sustained the company's view in the case of the Jefferson avenue line, the franchise for which, according to the city's contention, has expired.

WALTON PLEADS GUILTY TO $32,000 DETROIT ROBBERY

Former St. Louisan Says Other Two Participants, One His Brother,
"Double-Crossed" Him.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 31.—James Walton, formerly of St. Louis, confessed leader of the gang that held up and robbed a pay car of the Burroughs Adding Machine Co. of $32,000 here Aug. 4, repeated in the Recorder's Court yesterday the plea of guilty he entered earlier in the day in police court. He was remanded to jail to await sentence.

Henry Ford visited the prisoner during the day.

Walton denied a statement attributed to a convict at Marquette Prison that the latter had aided in the hold-up and hidden $8000 of the money in a Detroit rooming house. Walton said he, his brother Douglas, and Arthur Steffins were the only participants in the robbery. The others, he charged, "double-crossed" him.

ROBBER OUTWITTED BY GIRL

Leaves Express Office When She Tells Him She Cannot Open Safe.

A masked robber was outwitted by Miss Lee Woods of 1335 Parko avenue, a stenographer, who was alone in the office of the United Express and Transfer Co., 216 Gratiot street, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon when he entered with a revolver and demanded money. She told him there was no money in the office. Then he asked about the pay roll. Only a few minutes before, Miss Woods had transferred $15 to be used in paying the employees from the desk to the safe. She told him she could not open the safe and he left the office.

Bolivar Women Endorse "Outside" Treatment for Children's Colds

Instead of Dosing Delicate Little Stomachs They Recommend the External Treatment—VAPORUB.

Mrs. M. J. Porter, and Mrs. J. Jacques, of Bolivar Mo., and Mrs. M. E. Ferrel, on Rural Route No. 2, like all intelligent mothers, believe internal medicines are bad for children, and yet cold troubles must have some kind of treatment. When Vick's VAPORUB was introduced here from the South last season these ladies found it filled the need exactly. VAPORUB is a salve, which, when applied to the warmth of the body, is vaporized by the body heat. These vapors, inhaled with each breath, carry the medication through the air passages to the lungs, and, in addition, Vick's is absorbed through the skin, relieving the tightness and soreness. This twofold action makes VAPORUB useful for a wide variety of inflammations—from inflammations of the air passages and lungs, such as head colds, catarrh, asthmatic troubles, bronchitis and deep chest colds—down to inflammations of the skin and tissues, such as burns, bruises, stings, piles and muscular soreness.

Mrs. Porter says—"VAPORUB is very fine for sore throat, rheumatism, etc. I take pleasure in recommending it."

Mrs. Jacques says—"I have used several bottles of Vick's VAPORUB and have found it better than internal medicines."

Mrs. Ferrel writes—"We have given VAPORUB a fair trial and find it excellent for croup, colds, sore throat, etc. It is certainly fine for children. We have also found it very good in cases of sunburn, fever sores and muscular rheumatism."

Three sizes, 25c, 50c or $1.00. NOTICE—Last winter, in order to acquaint their customers with VAPORUB, a number of druggists throughout the State presented complimentary jars to a few of their customers, on condition that they give this preparation a thorough trial and report the results. By kind permission these reports are now being used in this series of advertisements.

PRESIDENT SAYS LODGE POSTSCRIPT STORY IS UNTRUE

times made to me remarks similar to those reported by Prof. Bailey. I cannot swear to every minute detail, for my memory is only human; but the general substance of your statement is correct to my personal knowledge.
"As I have telegraphed to Maj. Breckinridge to tell him of my proposed action, and as his remarks were not secret, and as Prof. Bailey has already involved the Major, I feel obliged to state that I know your statement is true.
With regard to Maj. Breckinridge, he is one of the finest examples of the American gentleman, and his distinguished family has been famous for its civility in the South for years. His statement also is unquestionably true beyond any possibility of doubt.
"Believe me, dear Senator Lodge, yours truly,
"JOHN TEMPLE LLOYD JEFFRIES."
The writer of this letter, Mr. John Jeffries, Senator Lodge said, "is a member of a very well-known family in Boston, a gentleman of honor and of the highest character and well known to me personally. The evidence that Mr. Breckinridge made the statement attributed to him about the postscript, I therefore think, cannot be successfully controverted, and if Mr. Breckinridge made the statement, it can be absolutely believed."

"Mr. Breckinridge has sent one or two telegrams in which he refers to Dr. Bailey and myself in a very angry manner, which is not important, but he characterizes his own conversation, which Dr. Bailey has reported as 'back-stairs gossip.' He does himself a great injustice by this, because he was a member of the Wilson administration and a most excellent Assistant Secretary of War. He denies that there was any threat of resignation by Mr. Garrison or others, but he entirely fails to deny the essential point, which was that the postscript was written and that he and Mr. Garrison saw it. Mr. Garrison said yesterday in Washington:
"I am not being interviewed on any subject. I have no statement of any kind to make." So that he also refuses to deny the existence of the postscript, which he certainly would have done if it had been a mere fabrication by Dr. Bailey. Dr. Bailey is a gentleman of the highest character, standing and veracity. I have no doubt that he stated the conversation in substance with absolute truth."

Bryan Denies There Is Any Truth in Lodge's Postscript Charge.
OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 31.—William J. Bryan, former Secretary of State, denied here last night that there was any truth in the story that a postscript had been written to the Lusitania note advising the German Government the strong language of the note should not be taken seriously and that later the postscript was withdrawn.
"I take it for granted," Bryan said, "that the President will deal with the matter as he deems wise. If, indeed, any attention need be paid to it, after Mr. Breckinridge's denial."
Bryan would make no further comment except to call attention to the fact that his resignation was not tendered at the time the first Lusitania note, to which the alleged postscript was attached, was written, but at the time the second note was written, which was nearly a month later.

Breckinridge Declines to Comment
Further After President's Denial.
SAN MATEO, Cal., Oct. 31.—When Henry Breckinridge, upon arriving here last night, was informed that President Wilson had termed untrue the statement made by Senator Lodge regarding the Lusitania note, he said:
"Since the President has denied Senator Lodge's statement, I shall have nothing more to say about it."

DEPARTMENT STORE ELIMINATES
COMPARATIVE PRICES FROM ADS
New Policy of Stix, Baer & Fuller
Dry Goods Co. Praised by Advertising men, who are here to arrange for their national convention next summer, are commenting most favorably on the announcement of the Stix, Baer & Fuller Dry Goods Co. that it will no longer put comparative prices in its advertising. The company will not in any instance advertise that an article offered at a certain price is worth a higher price.
The announcement said that the use of comparisons might breed exaggeration, no matter how vigilant one might be and that, as the company values the integrity of its printed as well as its spoken word a plain statement of the selling price will be published, and no more.

The policy of offering special bargains will be continued, but the consumer will readily appreciate the true values without being told what the goods were originally worth."
The Stix, Baer & Fuller Dry Goods Co.
give particular credit to Mr. Kenner of the Vigilance Committee of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World for this idea. Kenner was a strong advocate of this feature in advertising on his last visit here, and his arguments made a very strong impression, which have been under consideration for considerable time.

Another reason for the change of policy in the elimination of comparative prices was the fact that abnormal conditions influenced by the European war, make almost daily fluctuation in the value of merchandise.

DIES FROM CHILD PARALYSIS
Girl, Aged 8, Succumbs to the Disease
at Smithton, Ill.
Catherine C. Berkel, 8 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ignatz Berkel, of Smithton, Ill., died at her home yesterday from infantile paralysis after an illness of four days.
First symptoms seemed to show the girl was suffering from pneumonia and on Friday these apparently had changed to diphtheria. Saturday her throat and right side were paralyzed.

RECEIVERSHIP FOR THE FRISCO TO END AT MIDNIGHT TONIGHT

W. C. Nixon, One of Receivers, President of Road, Makes B. C.
Wood His Assistant.

The receivership for the Frisco Railroad will end at midnight tonight, and one minute thereafter the new company will take over, maintain and operate
the lines under the direction of W. C.
Nixon, one of the receivers, who has been elected president of the company.
All officers and employees continue in the service of the company. President Nixon announced the following appointments, effective tomorrow:
W. F. Evans, general solicitor; R. S.
Hoxie, auditor in full charge of accounts; B. T. Woods, assistant to the president; A. Douglas, consulting auditor of valuation and accounting; and T. A.
Hamilton, special representative of the president's office.
Wood, who will be Nixon's assistant,
was born in Springfield, Mo., in 1873.
He began railroad work in 1897 as a stenographer.

An Easy Way to Get Fat and Be Strong

The trouble with most thin folks who wish to gain weight is that they insist on draining their stomach or stuffing
it with greasy food, rubbing on useless flesh cream, or following some foolish physical culture stunt, while the real cause of thinness goes untouched. You cannot get fat until your digestive tract assimilates the food you eat.
There is a preparation known to reliable druggists almost everywhere which assimilates the food into the blood, and then converts food into rich, fat-laden blood. This modern treatment is called "Sargol" and has been termed the greatest of flesh-builders. Sargol aims through regenerative, reconstructive powers to coat the stomach and intestines to literally soak up the fattening elements of your food and pass them into the blood,
where they are carried to the starved broken-down cells and tissues of your body. You can readily picture what results this amazing transformation should produce as with increased weight the cheeks fill out, hollows about neck, shoulders and bust disappear, and from 10 to 20 pounds are gained. Sargol is added to the body. Sargol is absolutely harmless, invigorating, efficient.
Woolf-Wilson Drug Co., Johnson-Engle-hard, Chicago, Ill., is the sole U.S. agent.

AMERICANS AMBUSHED IN KOREA: 3 PERSONS KILLED

Dead Are Policeman, Chinese Driver
and Man Believed to Be From U. S.
Carried $75,000 for Mine.

SEOUL, Korea, Oct. 31.—Fin Welhaven, who is believed to have been an American, has been killed and two other American mining engineers have been wounded in an encounter with armed bandits who ambushed the party in Northern Korea with the object of robbery.
The Americans and others connected with the Oriental Consolidated gold mine were returning to the mine Oct.
6, carrying $75,000 for operating expenses when they were attacked from the brush by nine highwaymen, whose nationality is not known. A policeman and the Chinese driver of the buckboard in which the Americans were riding were killed and Welhaven was so badly wounded that he died the following day. Two other Americans named Williams and Burrows were shot, though not dangerously. The bandits were driven off and the cash saved.

IF KIDNEYS FEEL LIKE LEAD OR YOUR BACK IS ACHING, TAKE SALTS AT ONCE

We all eat too much meat, which clogs up the Kidneys,
and they need a flushing, else we must suffer.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally.
says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorder come from sluggish kidneys.
The moment you feel a dull ache
in the kidneys or your back hurts, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.
Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—ADV.

which resulted from Bryan's pacific policy. It had been rumored in official circles as early as Sunday (June 6, 1915) that Bryan would resign, for there had been friction between the Secretary of State and President Wilson for several weeks. Bryan's advocacy of what some officials here regarded as a "peace-at-any-price" policy had proved embarrassing to the President, and other members of his Cabinet. Some of the members, it was said, recently announced that if such a policy were followed with Germany in place of one of firmness and vigor, they would resign.

The crisis in the Cabinet began when the sinking of the Lusitania led to the draft by the President of the note of May 13, informing Germany that the United States would not omit "any word or act" to uphold rights of its citizens.

Bryan Cautious. Bryan counseled peaceful measures and cautious actions. It is now said that he gave his consent to signing the note only after it was tentatively arranged that a statement at the White House should be issued stating that the German Government announcing that inasmuch as Germany had accepted the principle of the peace treaties negotiated between the United States and other countries, differences between the nations might be adjusted by a commission of investigation.

Opposition to this course was most vehement in some Cabinet quarters, and the President, after having considered at length Bryan's suggestion, finally disapproved it at the hour the note was sent.

Some Cabinet members argued that such an appendix to the note of May 13 would be construed abroad as a weakening of the American position, and their counsel prevailed.

Story of Interview. Cabinet circles echo the story of an interview between the President and Bryan on the day that the latter was induced by his superior to sign the last note to Germany. In that communication the President demanded an explanation for the useless sacrifice of the lives of American citizens, including women and children, on the Lusitania, and declared that further violation of the laws of humanity would compel the United States to seek redress by "every word and act."

Bryan protested vigorously against these phrases, and offered as a substitute one that has been described by other members of the Cabinet as "the other cheek" method. Some of the members of the Cabinet were inclined to view Mr. Bryan's "peace principles" jealously, but were brought to a full realization of his convictions at the meeting of the Cabinet Friday last. The President then read the first draft of his message, which is to be sent today, and as soon as the President had concluded, Bryan in a most dramatic manner, remonstrated with his chief because of the general tone of the document, as he said, and specifically to portions of it that did not comport with his peace principles.

With the exception of Secretary of the Navy Daniels, who is said to have mildly reflected the views of Secretary Bryan, all the other members of the Cabinet expressed their unqualified approval of the note.

Following the Cabinet meeting the President sent for Bryan and the latter remained with his chief for an hour. He obtained from the President a promise that the note should not be sent until after he (Bryan) had submitted his message, which is to be sent today, and two suggestions that he believed might provide grounds for compromise, and at the same time accomplish the purpose of the President and himself. These were submitted at a conference at 6 o'clock Monday night.

At the end of the discussion the President informed his Secretary of State that he could not consistently recede from the position he had already taken. Bryan then notified him that he would have to resign.

Bryan, After Resignation, Said Note Was "Softened."

In a statement given out by Bryan June 13, 1915, five days after his resignation from the Cabinet, and two days after the publication of the second Lusitania note, he declared that "an important change was made in the communication as originally drawn and that its effect had been 'softened.' He said: "It is true that I saw the final draft of the note just before my resignation took effect, but it contained an important change. I had no knowledge of this change at the time my resignation was tendered and accepted."

"This change, while very much softening the note, was not, however, sufficient, in my judgment, to justify me in asking permission to withdraw my resignation."

The White House made no comment on this and Mr. Bryan did not allude to it in succeeding statements.

In a statement given out by Mr. Bryan on the day of his resignation he gave these causes for his action:

"Two of the points on which we (he and the President) differ, each conscientious in his convictions, are:

"1. As to the suggestion of investigation by an international commission, and

"2. As to warning Americans from traveling on belligerent vessels or with cargoes of ammunition."

Mr. Bryan said that he strongly believed that the American Government should say frankly to Germany that America was ready to apply to the Lusitania case the principles that treaties with 30 nations had bound the United States to apply in disputes with them. He said the terms of these treaties made war between this country and the 30 nations impossible. He was overruled, however, in this view.

HIS FRIEND HURT; HE HELPED HIM

Injured Man Laughed When Simple Treatment Was Suggested, But He Thanked His Comrade Later.

Once upon a time word came to Henry A. Voehl, of Plainfield, N. J., that a close friend had been injured, and full of anxiety, he visited the afflicted man, who was suffering from a sprained ankle.

"It was so bad that the leg had turned black," said Mr. Voehl in relating the story. "I told him I would have him out in a week and he laughed at me. But I took him a bottle of Sloan's Liniment, that night as put some on and noticed the ankle felt better. I told him to use it every day, and in three days his ankle was practically well. In four days he was working. He gladly admits that Sloan's Liniment 'put him on his feet.'"

Sloan's Liniment can be obtained at all drug stores, 25c, 50c and $1.00.

REPUBLICANS GIVE ANOTHER VERSION OF NOTE CHARGE

Says Supplemental Instructions on Lusitania Note Were to Go to Gerard.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Still another version of the incident of the so-called postscript to the Lusitania note is forthcoming today from Republican national headquarters. This version does not mention a postscript at all, but says supplemental instructions were to be sent to Ambassador Gerard.

The following statement, signed by David S. Barry, the Republican director of publicity, was issued:
"George C. Warren Jr., a well-known resident of Jersey City, one of the Republican candidates for presidential elector in New Jersey, declares that he is in position positively to confirm the statement by Senator Lodge regarding the so-called 'postscript' to the Lusitania note." Mr. Warren says that he has his information directly from a member of Mr. Wilson's official family, whose name for obvious reasons he is not at liberty to give.

"The story," says Mr. Warren, "is that the postscript was not in the form of an addition to the note for transmission to Ambassador Gerard, but in the form of a supplemental instruction to Ambassador Gerard, who was to convey to the German Government the information that the note had been written for American consumption."

Credited to Tumulty.
"Mr. Warren's story is that the man who prevented this instruction being sent to Ambassador Gerard was Joseph P. Tumulty, Secretary to the President. According to Mr. Warren's informant, Mr. Tumulty realized the political danger to his chief of sending such a message, and went to Lindley M. Garrison, then Secretary of War, and urged Mr. Garrison to exert his influence to prevent this instruction being sent."

"Mr. Garrison replied that he had no influence with the President, and that it was not worth while for him to attempt to endeavor to influence him. Mr. Tumulty did go to Postmaster-General Burleson and succeeded in arousing Mr. Burleson to the importance of stopping the telegram. Mr. Burleson having agreed that the message should be stopped, Mr. Tumulty took the responsibility of having the supplemental message held up to await further orders from the President."

"The President did not agree with their presentation of the matter. He argued that the American people did not want war, were opposed to getting into war, and that the course laid down in his instructions to Ambassador Gerard was in accordance with the feeling of the country. This argument satisfied Postmaster-General Burleson, who withdrew his objection. Mr. Tumulty, however, continued to object very strenuously upon the ground that to send such instruction would be a fatal political error."

Lansing's Name Brought In.
"Mr. Tumulty then sought Mr. Lansing, who at that time was Counselor of the State Department. Mr. Lansing saw Mr. Tumulty's point at once and agreed with him, and Lansing and Tumulty went back to the President and succeeded in convincing the President of the importance of withdrawing the supplemental instruction to Ambassador Gerard."

"It was when Mr. Bryan was informed definitely that this instruction to Mr. Gerard had been withheld that he resigned as Secretary of State.
"Mr. Warren declares that the source of his information is such that there can be absolutely no question as to its reliability."

At 94 Kensington avenue, Jersey City, where he lives, Warren said today that the foregoing statement was true. He added in response to questions:

"The information is not new. It came to me directly, and not through a third party, as was the case with the information Senator Lodge had. I do not feel that I am at liberty to give the name of my informant, though the restrictions as to confidence were imposed on me at the time. I don't suppose then that anyone thought the matter would be made public."

TOMORROW WILL BE RELIEF DAY FOR THE LITHUANIANS

Designated in Proclamation by President Wilson as Day for the Lithuanians.

Tomorrow has been designated in a proclamation by President Wilson as a day upon which Americans may make such contributions as they feel disposed to the relief of the Lithuanians who have suffered from the European war. Although Lithuania has not existed as a country for several decades, there are still about 4,000,000 people of the race inhabiting a part of Europe over which the Germans and Russian armies are battling, causing them to suffer many privations and starvation. The Lithuanian National Relief Fund Committee says it will provide food for a Lithuanian child for two weeks.

St. Louis contributions will be received by Walter Hill, president of the Mechanical-American National Bank, who is also local treasurer of the Red Cross.

WIRELESS CENSOR RELIEVED AFTER BANKS MAKE PROTEST

Naval Officer's Order, Holding Up Messages Unless Secret Code Key Is Furnished, Nullified.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Bankers who met yesterday to protest against a demand of Lieut. Charles R. Clark, naval censor of wireless at the Bayville (L. I.) station, that they send their most secret code key if they wished messages transmitted were apprised that Commander David W. Todd, director of naval communication, had countermanded the order. Soon afterward dispatches from Washington announced that Lieut. Clark and Lieut. Keap, the naval censor at Siasconsett, had been relieved from duty there by order of Admiral Benson. The reason for these changes was not stated.

Commander Todd's ruling liberated messages concerning large sums of money which have been held up, in some instances since the middle of October, and they were sent last night to Germany, Holland and other countries.

The "secret cipher" which the censor's order called for is used as a safeguard against fraud by anyone who might obtain a copy of the code and use it to transmit unauthorized messages by which transfers of money might be affected. Unless the secret cipher is used in the message, the foreign banker is assured that the communication is fraudulent. These keys are held by bankers as sacred as signatures.

AN OLD FURNITURE SECRET

How a Famous Furniture House Cleans and Beautifies Fine Pieces

The old established house of Tobey (Chicago & New York), makers of fine furniture, uses a secret shop formula for cleaning and beautifying the rich finishes of all furniture they make.

This formula is now offered to the world in the form of Tobey Polish. Already it is being used in the finer homes throughout the country. It is more than a furniture polish. It restores the original finish by removing all dirt and blemishes. Cleans off dirt and grease much more easily than soap and water. Wipes off dry. Leaves no oily film or veneer. Does not dry or crack the finest finish, but renews the elasticity of the finish.

Rugs Made to Your Order

ANYONE who has planned and built a fine home knows that in order to furnish and decorate it in harmony with the motif
of its architecture, it was necessary to have certain Rugs made to order that they might embody the motifs of design and color used by the architect.

We have arrangements with the most famous makers of individually exclusive rugs in Scotland, Ireland, France and England for them to produce such rugs for our clients.

We can have them made in one piece—seamless—up to thirty feet in width; to conform to any peculiarity of floor outline; to match in design and color any one of a great number of patterns we have for submission, or to match designs which we will create to meet special requirements as to pattern and color.

We, of course, can supply these rugs in plain or two-tone colors.

We have furnished many of the finest homes in this city with these beautiful made-to-order exclusive rugs.

We solicit conference with anyone who would like to talk over with us the details

SOUTH ST. LOUIS GREETED REED WITH TORCHLIGHT PARADE

Senator Says Presidential Fight
Is One of Vested Interests Against Common People.

MAKES 2 SPEECHES HERE

Declares Plans Against Wilson Were Started at Gary's "Billion Dollar Dinner."

United States Senator Reed, speaking before audiences that packed Rock Spring Hall, Chouteau and Boyle avenues, and Compton Hall, Compton and Park avenues, last night, declared that the Republican campaign which cut the reactionary element of the party in the saddle, was started at the celebrated Gary dinner last February, which was attended by men representing $120,000,000-900 of wealth. The purpose of that meeting, he said, was to lay plans to stop the Wilson forward movement in the interest of humanity, syndicate the presidency and get a man like themselves to run for President on the Republican ticket.

Old-Fashioned Parade.

The Rock Spring meeting was preceded by an old-fashioned torchlight parade. Hundreds of men marched through the streets, carrying banners and torchlights and shouting for Wilson. They came into the hall, headed by a band. Everybody was shouting.

Senator Reed spoke in the afternoon at Versailles. He will speak this afternoon at a tent meeting at De Soto and will return to St. Louis and speak tonight at St. Louis Turner Hall, Tenth and Carroll streets, and St. Boniface's Hall, Michigan avenue and Schirmer street. He will make six more speeches in St. Louis during the week.

Senator Reed cited Hughes' vetoes as Governor of New York in the 2-cent railroad rate case, the woman teachers' salary case, the full-crew bill and his message to the New York Assembly protesting against the ratification of the income tax amendment, as proof that the Republican candidate was reactionary and in sympathy with the reactionaries.

"We might as well understand this question," said Senator Reed. "This is a fight between the vested interests with Charles E. Hughes as their candidate and the common people with Woodrow Wilson as their candidate. Hughes' record as Governor of New York shows that he always turned his back upon the people and his ear to the corporations.
When you find a set of men like those who attended the Gary dinner, including the munitions makers, trying to syndicate the presidency, it is time for the people to get on the other side."

Senator Reed repeated a part of the argument he made to a German audience in St. Louis a few weeks ago relative to the foreign policies of President Wilson with respect to Germany. He sharply criticized Hughes and Roosevelt for wanting to go to war with Germany.

He criticized Roosevelt, the chief adviser of Hughes, recently was asked what he would have done when the Lusitania was sunk. He said he would have seized all the German ships interned in this country. That would have been an act of war, but this swagging, blustering, swagger-buckling demagogue didn't have the courage to tell the people that it would have meant war. Portugal seized five German interned ships and was announced by Germany in 10 days with a declaration of war.

Hughes, when pinned down, declared that he would have severed diplomatic relations with Germany. Whenever you sever diplomatic relations with another country, the very next step is war. That would have meant that we had ceased speaking to Germany. She could have continued her submarine warfare, and we could not have protested, because our Ambassador would have been withdrawn from Germany, and the German Ambassador from America. Both the statements of Roosevelt and of Hughes were equivalent to saying that they would have declared war upon Germany.

"I have read in the newspapers, and I assume that it is true, that the allies are perfecting trade agreements among themselves to be put into effect after the war. It may be that these trade alliances will be against the United States, and that Germany will be the only great European Power with which we can have trade relations."

At the Compton Hall meeting Senator
Reed told how Frank A. Vandervlip, President of the National City Bank of New York, spent days before the Banking and Currency Committee of the Senate, of which Senator Reed was a member, making a plea for a central bank to be controlled by bankers. He said the demand of Vandervlip was refused, and the control of the money was given to the United States Government instead of to Wall street.

"And now we see Mr. Vandervlip attending the Gary dinner, contributing heavily to the Republican campaign fund, and standing forth as one of Mr.
Hughes' principal supporters."
He declared that Wall street and men of the Vandervlip type wanted Hughes elected so they could get control of the Federal Reserve banking system, and thereby control, again, as they used to control under the old system, the money of the country.

Senator Reed said that all of the men who represent the corrupt and vicious money of the country were supporting Hughes. The wool manufacturers, he asserted, sat with a committee of Congress and wrote the wool schedule of the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill.

"Can anybody name any man in this country who made his money by special privileges who is supporting Wilson?"

Someone in the audience mentioned
Henry Ford.

"Why, Henry Ford made every dollar
of his money honestly building automobiles, and he is the only one of the rich men who has divided his wealth with his employes, and raised the wages of every employe of his factories from the scrub woman on up."

Saloon Man Put in Ice Box.

Two men called for beer in the saloon
of Walter Fohman, 428 Gibson avenue, and while he was serving them they pointed revolvers at him and ordered him into the icebox. After taking $15 from the cash drawer the robbers departed.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

A Working Girl's Contribution.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Today a young woman called at the headquarters of the Democratic National Committee here, and asked if I would take a small contribution to help elect Woodrow Wilson. She said that she was only one of a great number of working men and women, whom she knew, who wanted to do something to help re-elect the greatest American of the present age.

She said that she had learned merely by accident that the Democratic National Committee had branch headquarters here where contributions can be made, and that if I would take small contributions, I ought to let this be generally known, so that everybody could give something as a vote of thanks to the man who has kept us out of war.

Half as many people have contributed twice as much money to the Republican National Committee as to our committee and it is needless to say that since the Democratic party is, and has always been, the party of the great common people, we will gladly and thankfully accept, at our headquarters in the La Salle Building, any contribution, no matter how small.

S. M. FORDYCE JR., Chairman Missouri Auxiliary Committee of Democratic National Committee.

Nonpartisan Ballot Amendment.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Your very interesting editorials on the nonpartisan ballot amendment have served to arouse the interest of the voters in this important amendment.

It should be emphasized, however, that this is not a new "reform" scheme, but a method by which the citizen's right of sovereignty, as expressed at the ballot box, becomes more effective.

The amendment has reference only to municipal elections. In determining the policies and administration of local affairs the average voter of our time has been convinced that his right of control is very restricted. To remove these restrictions and to enable every citizen more effectively to dominate local affairs, this amendment proposes four important changes in existing laws, to-wit:

First. It removes all party labels from municipal ballots. In order that local policies may not be confused and controlled by the decisions on national issues.

Second. It substitutes nomination by petition for the expensive primary so that every shade of public opinion can have its representative on the ballot.

Third. It provides for preferential voting, giving the citizen the right to express his first, second and third choice among the candidates. In order that every elected official shall represent a majority of the voters and not a small fraction of some particular group who may accidentally win the nomination and the election by a mere plurality.

Fourth. It provides for proportional representation in the Board of Aldermen, so that a bare majority of one group of citizens shall not absolutely exclude the participation of all other groups from the councils of the local government.

To remove party labels from municipal tickets does not destroy party organizations. Such organizations will still exist and will continue to make the issues and select the candidates in national and state elections. But this provision will effectively take the administration of local affairs out from under the control of politicians who dominate state and national politics, and will create new groups and new alignments based upon differences of opinion with respect to the management of purely local affairs. This is in effect an extension of the principle of home rule for municipalities.

Mr. C. W. Rutledge, at a recent public debate on this amendment, argued that Republicans would still vote for Republicans and Democrats would still vote for Democrats, whether they were labeled by party names or simply indicated as Group No. 1, Group No. 2, etc. He failed, however, to take into consideration the fact that the primary and election are by this amendment combined, and it is quite unlikely that all Republicans or that all Democrats would be content to let one small faction select the candidates for that group, the result being that the great parties in a city would each break up into several groups, giving the people ample opportunity to select their officials on the personal merits of each candidate and in consideration of policies having reference wholly to the administration of local affairs.

The scheme of proportionate representation is probably the most popular feature of this amendment. The idea of a Board of Aldermen, composed wholly of men of one political belief or who think alike on all questions or who can be coerced into one belief by considerations of party regularity, strikes every thinking man as absurd. What would become of a debating society where there were no differences of opinion? It requires opposition to develop the best there is in a man, and a legislative assembly is no exception to the rule. Even admitting that the main groups of voters will continue to divide into Republicans, Democrats and Socialists, there is no reason why these groups should not be represented in the Municipal Assembly in proportion to their strength. The strongest group would still be in control, but would have the active opposition or co-operation of all other groups in determining every question that comes before the joint interests of all the groups within the limits of that of one particular group, or, as it sometimes happens, from a sense of duty.

ALEXANDER H. BURNING.

THE LODGE CANARD.

Senator Lodge occupies a unique position as a retailer for campaign purposes of false and vicious gossip concerning vitally important negotiations of the United States Government with a foreign Power. The offense is the viler because this gossip, twisted into an attack on the character of the President, was an attack on the honor of the United States and was designed to discredit the President and the Government in the opinion of the world.

It was unnecessary for the President to deny this gossip. His record spoke for itself. No man who knows anything about him could believe that he is a fool and a coward. None but the stupidest fool would do what Lodge on gossip alone accused the President of doing. But the President unqualifiedly and completely denies every point of the charge made against him. His denial is so sincere and thorough that we think it worthy of repetition. Replying to a telegram of inquiry the President says:

Let me say that the statement made by Senator Lodge is untrue. No postscript or amendment of the Lodge note was ever written or contemplated by me, except such changes as I myself inserted which strengthened and emphasized the protest.

It was suggested, after the note was ready for transmission, that an intimation be conveyed to the German Government that a proposal for arbitration would be acceptable, and one member of the Cabinet spoke to me about it, but it was never discussed in Cabinet meeting and no threat of any resignation was ever made for the very good reason that I rejected the suggestion after giving it such consideration as I thought every proposal deserved which touched so grave a matter. It was inconsistent with the purpose of the note. The public is in possession of everything that was said to the German Government.

The President's denial is supplemented by the denials of Cabinet members, but they are not needed. The Lodge canard vanishes with the other poison gases of the opposition campaign which has transcended all decency in unscrupulous attacks on the character and conduct of Mr. Wilson. The Republicans must be desperate indeed when Senator Lodge can be induced to deal with lying, back-door scandal to blacken and defeat the President.

Mr. Lodge is ranking member of the Foreign Relations Committee of the United States Senate. In the event of Republican control of the Senate he would be chairman. Yet he tosses the honor and integrity of the Government into the garbage can for partisan advantage.

This incident will help the President with all men of right mind. But it should warn the public to be on guard against campaign roboracks in a campaign of scandalous falsehood and abuse.

Mr. Wilson and his administration must be judged by demonstrated character and conduct. They must be judged by the record—a record of unsurpassed achievement for peace, prosperity and the general welfare of the American people. This record is an open book.

Had we elected the Colonel in 1912, we might gladly shout, "He got us into war!"

THE G. O. P. "AD." WRITERS.

The advertisement occupying much space which has been printed in the press of the country by the "Republican National Publicity Committee," contains the following:

Force of character would have stopped murder on the high sea.

What sort of language is this for affronting the sensibilities of German-Americans who have decided to vote for Mr. Hughes? What sort of language is this to be read by German-Americans who have been rendered uneasy by Col. Roosevelt and are still uncertain as to how to vote? "Murder on the high seas" is the phrase, not reprisals or perils of the war zone or legitimate operations against belligerent commerce.

Force of character may seem at first thought a rather futile deterrent of anything so grim and implacable as properly to be styled "murder on the high seas." But that is just what did stop it, is it not? Anyway it was stopped.

MUNICIPAL LODGING HOUSE POLICY.

A municipal lodging house was opened at Dayton, O., in 1914 with no requirement as to work or baths. In the first 22 days of cold weather the average registration was about 55 a day. The next year it opened under a new arrangement that gave two days' free lodging to those having employment or a prospect of employment, but compelling others to take a bath and work half a day for their accommodation. During the first 22 days 424 were registered, as against the total of 1220 during 22 days of the year before.

At this distance it seems that the difference might be due to a difference in business conditions, which were disastrously affected during the first months of the war. Dayton, however, believes it due to the difference in the conditions on which hospitality was extended, and to prevent imposition perhaps inmates should give some return in service for what they enjoy. Still information as to a point on which Dayton is aggravatingly silent would be most interesting.

How much of the falling off does she attribute to the requirement that guests must pay in work and how much to the requirement that they must take a bath?

A HEALTHY TOWN.

A couple of undertakers in a law-fight at Pomona, Cal., are advertising that unobtrusive town in most fetching manner. The complainant alleges that defendant sold him a half interest in his business on the representation that he buried about 120 adults a year, whereas only about 40 Pomonians per annum shuffle off this mortal coil. Pomona has a population of about 10,000, which gives it a mortality rate that cannot fail to attract everybody interested in longevity.

Some towns might offer a convincing inducement to outsiders by advertising a number of good funerals—a suggestion by no means originating with us. On the other hand, a considerable quota of thriving undertakers is a sign of prosperity which may defeat its ends. Fat, well-fed, jolly undertakers that resemble bank presidents are anything but a desideratum in a health resort.

Without unduly pluming ourselves on our own climate, St. Louis boasts fewer, leaner, and more melancholy undertakers than any other great metropolis on the map. Several of them, who came here from Pomona, remain with us owing to inability to raise the price of a railroad ticket to Chicago and points less salubrious.

A whole lot of "undersigned authors and artists" headed by George Ade have come out for Hughes. But we doubt if the support of this predatory plutocracy will have the desired effect.

PROPORTIONAL REPRESENTATION.

Perhaps the most interesting of the changes in city election methods on which St. Louisans will pass next Tuesday provides for what is called "proportional representation" in the Board of Aldermen.

The plan contemplates that Aldermanic candidates shall be placed on the ballot in groups, each group consisting, when no vacancies are to be filled, of 14 candidates or less who are backed by petitions of one per cent of the total city vote at the last prior election. The citizen at the polls must do his voting on some one of the several lists, being privileged, however, to cross off any candidate on that list and write in the name of substitutes.

After the count of votes the supporters of each list are entitled to have the candidates of that list declared elected in the proportion which the vote for that list bears to the total vote for all the lists. If list No. 1, for instance, is supported by ten-fourteenths of all the voters of the city, 10 candidates of that list are to be seated, the selections being made from the 10 of the 14 having the highest personal support.

The plan makes possible a delightfully simple way of filling vacancies on the board. If after some months of service, one of the 10 Aldermen of List No. 1 dies or resigns or removes from the city, the Election Commissioners certify the name of the candidate on that list who stood eleventh in the poll.

The recall under this proportional system is made a practical, workable device in a sense not possible under the present election system. If some one of the 10 originally seated from list No. 1 does not give satisfactory service, he may be recalled on the petition of 10 per cent of the total voters in the city, which 10 per cent must include 60 per cent of the persons who originally signed his ballot petition. Should such a petition be filed, the Election Commissioners determine its sufficiency, whereupon the offending Alderman is automatically ousted and the next available candidate of list No. 1 who stood below No. 10 in the poll is certified to take his place.

This feature, like other proposed new election features, subordinates politics in city affairs, but it has other important merits. Once introduced we believe it would commend itself to St. Louisans because of the ease with which it would enable them to give force to their desires and ideas. We believe that it would prove a potent factor in promoting better city government.

Nations that are to progress must begin with moral progress. What wonders could have been accomplished with the $85,000,000,000 wasted in the wicked and foolish European war!

A GOOD ADVERTISING EXAMPLE.

The announcement by the Stix, Baer & Fuller Dry Goods Co., proprietors of the Grand-Leader, that the use of comparative prices will be discontinued in all their advertisements is a courageous step in the direction of a higher standard of ethics in business advertising.

In stating comparative prices, as the company says, it is impossible, no matter how good the intent of the advertiser, to avoid making misstatements and exaggerations and thus in some degree to misrepresent the facts and deceive the purchaser. The Grand-Leader assures avoidance of the possibility of misrepresentation and deception by eliminating comparative prices.

Apart from the ethics of the change it is an improvement in form over the old method. It saves space and is a gain in directness of statement to the public.

The policy of avoiding comparisons of prices is in line with the excellent movement for higher standards of sincerity and accuracy in advertising. Although it has been adopted by leading firms in some other cities, the Grand-Leader is a pioneer in the change in St. Louis. It sets a good example to advertisers.

Calamity howling doesn't "go." William Rockefeller is not the only financier who is saying "Prosperity is not going to end with the war in Europe."

"COL. BOMBASTIO FURIOSO."

Samuel Gompers declares that he was recently invited by George W. Perkins to run down to Oyster Bay and revise Col. Bombastio Furioso's speech on the eight-hour law. Mr. Gompers declined the invitation, he says. We are sorry he didn't accept it. A kind of revision whatever could not have failed to help the speech in question. But that is beside the point.

For the reference to Bombastio Furioso (of course, Mr. Gompers and the reporter and the proffered meat Bombastios, the titular hero of Rhodes' dramatic classic) everybody is indebted to Mr. Gompers, for it is so apt and apt and apt. Does the gentle reader happen to recall particularly the little passage at arms between Bombastios and his antagonist? The first roared:

"So have I heard on Africa's burning shore A hungry lion give a grievous roar: The grievous roar echoed along the shore."

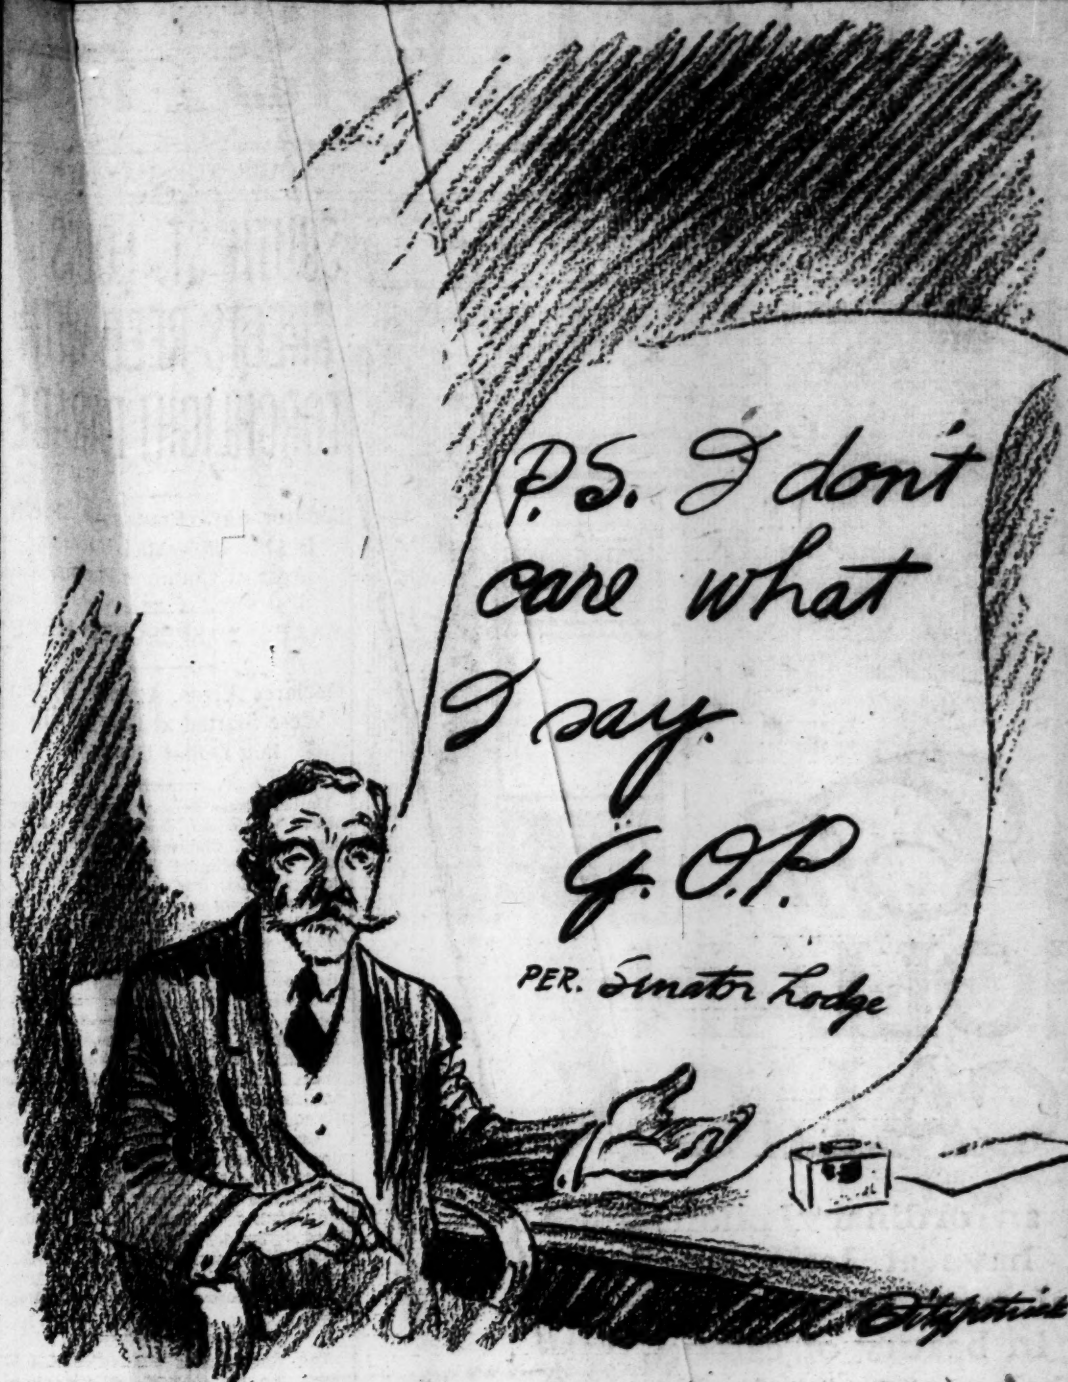

Whereat the other cried:

"So have I heard on Africa's burning shore Another lion give a grievous roar: And the first lion thought the last a bore."

Pardon us, if we think both Roosevelt and Perkins—but what's the use saying it?

If we can believe Mr. Taft and the Colonel, both are exalted members of the most active Annapolis Club. They are rivals in the same cause now.

The Colonel looks upon neutrality as cold and selfish. What a happy man he would have been at Donnybrook fair.

OCTOBER, all thy golden days,
Bless with the sunlight's fairest rays,
Are at an end, and Nature lays,
With solemn vow,
Her crown of fruitful harvest days
Upon thy brow!

In stores, at markets, and at fairs,
Merchants display their toothsome wares,
Inviting awe-inspiring stares
From fasting eyes
Gazing on blushing fruit that bears
The ribboned prize.

Cream cheeses, of whose taste the host
Of famous Cincinnatus might boast—
Rare cuts of beef all spiced to roast,
And English ale—
And herrings, trapped off Finland's coast,
In little pale!

Oil-burnished nuts and bars of rice,
Brown honey-cakes with sugared ice,
And bits of aromatic spice
From the Hindoo—
Whose scent and savor would suffice
Old Epicurus!

There in the butchers' dark windows
A hollow pumpkin's vengeful glances
Whose crescent mouth and eyes and nose
Grim weird and bright;
As round its haunted head it throws
A spectral light.

Ye Saints! with what a keen delight
We heralded thy festive night,
Took off his gate then put to flight
Our neighbor's dog—
And turned his master cold with fright,
Arrayed inog!

How many a time with stealthy care
We climbed the hated ogre's stair,
And with vindictive hate did dare
To ring his bell
And run, hearing the victim swear
'Us deep in Hell!

How often with heroic fear
We drew the Chinese Laundry near,
And stung the alien's crown and ear
With dried green peas,
Then scattered like wood-startled deer
Round poles and trees!

How often did the grocer find
His wagon's tongue placed on behind—
His door knobs smeared with bacon rind,
And tied with rope,
Till twenty yards he would unwind
Before they'd open!

And when our friendship pranks were played,
With tired steps homeward we strayed:
On cool, soft shanks our bodies laid,
Then closed our lids,
And God forgive us while we prayed
When we were kids!

Now when Autumnal lights return,
And twilight's fiery sunsets burn,
O how my older heart doth yearn
Once more to stray
Through scenes which year by year I learn Lived Yesterday!

O how I long once more to be,
With covers drawn over my eye,
And chuckle at the devilry
My wit had shaped,

And giggle at the spanking!

Barely escaped!

But mourn not, longing heart, be still!
Thy cup of joy hath had its fill;
Thy warning pulses leap and thrill
With such fair fights,
That not a hundred years could kill
Their deep delights!

So when the witches ride at night
Upon their wild Walpurgis flight,
I'll gaze upon the spectral sight
With soul serene,
And bless each olden spook and sprite
Of Halloween!

F—Of peanut oil a housewife says: In a bowl of mayonnaise I could not accord it my approval, but for cooking or medicinal purposes it would meet all requirements, being sweet and of good body.

FLORENCE—Dyeing kid gloves black: They are stretched over a wooden hand and color is spread upon them with a brush. Glove is washed in alcohol three times, brushed over with a decoction of logwood, allowed between each brushing 15 minutes for drying; afterward dipped into solution of iron protosulphate and then brushed with warm water. Should the color be not sufficiently dark, a decoction of quercitron may be added to the logwood decoction. Instead of the protosulphate, some nitrate of iron may be used. As the leather begins to dry, it is rubbed over with talc powder and some olive oil, and pressed between flannels. The treatment with talc and oil is repeated and gloves allowed to dry on the stretch-wood.—Scientific American Cyclopedia.

C R—Liver dumplings: One pound half liver, 1 large onion, 1 egg, 1 large cup bread crumbs, 1 heaping teaspoon flour, salt and pepper to taste. Mince liver very fine, removing all strings; mince onion and add to liver, stir in egg, pepper and salt, add the crumbs, lastly flour. Mix well with spoon. The mixture should be stiff enough to hold together when dropped into boiling water. Add more flour if it separates when boiling. Mixture should be 2 or 3 heaping tablespoons at a time into boiling water. Boil 15 minutes. When done, lift out of water with skimmer and serve on platter with drawn butter poured over. Dumplings are good, are good warmed over. Beef may be used instead of liver if preferred.

Z. L. Z.—We do not think County Clerks in Utah and Wisconsin are required by law to answer questions in regard to assessed value of mining stock. However, you might try writing the Attorney-General of those States, Salt Lake City, and Attorney-General W. C. Owen, Madison, as to the existence of such laws.

GLOBY—Note need not be witnessed and is as good without a witness thereto if signature of maker is genuine. Note is payable to order of payee it is negotiable and may be negotiated at any time by holder. If note is made on bank check, it is as good as cash. If for any special reason another party desires to purchase note, more than its face value, take the money; probably you are considering the accrued interest thereon.

Grounds: Desertion 1 year, former existing marriage, cruelty, felony, physical incapacity, attempt of life of other party, divorced party cannot marry for 1 year.

X.—The principal and interest notes should be indorsed by executor, naming estate, and followed by his signature; however, we do not clearly comprehend your other remarks. If the deed of trust and notes were not payable to the estate, but upon maturity extended and a principal note substituted in lieu of such principal note secured by such deed the substituted note would not be secured thereby. In so far as the new interest notes are concerned (given for interest to accrue on the principal note) the term of extension) it matters not to whom they were made payable, but should be indorsed by the payee named therein.

WILSON DAY WAS ONE OF SELF-PRaise, HUGHES DECLARES

Eulogy Needed One Touch, Celebration of Vera Cruz and Carrizal Slaughters, He Says.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 21.—Charles E. Hughes last night replied to President Wilson's speech at Shadow Lawn last Saturday. He referred to the occasion as "a little festival of self-glorification among our opponents in which they celebrated the birth of freedom."

The eulogy needed one further touch, Mr. Hughes declared, "and that was to celebrate the policy that led to the slaughter at Vera Cruz and Carrizal."

The Underwood and Adamson bills were characterized as being in the "whimsical domain of toadyism" and "may be hailed as the guardians of American enterprise and American labor." Business had been placed, it was claimed, on a different footing.

Hughes declared his opponents were "a little out of their reckoning" in claiming that "business had been relieved of a nervous fear of the courts" that what business really feared, was "vague legislation," "two-faced laws," "government by hold-up," and an "administration which treats business men as suspicious characters."

As in previous speeches in the State, Hughes made the tariff his chief theme. In replying to statements in President Wilson's speech, Mr. Hughes said:

"The other day our opponents had a little festival of self-glorification. They conferred upon themselves the highest honors they could bestow. They celebrated the birth of freedom. They had emancipated, they said, pretty much everything and everybody. Finding no lesser praise to be adequate they finally described themselves as the generous forces of the age and of the world. For these, they say, will be thrown back in discouragement and confusion, the event of their defeat. They say, in effect, that if a majority of my fellow countrymen elect me, humanity will be routed."

"This delicate tribute to my own endeavors I keenly appreciate. The eulogy needed only one further touch, and that was to celebrate the policy that led to the slaughter at Vera Cruz and Carrizal. These, I suppose, would be regarded by the generous forces of the age as peace parties; and in the same whimsical domain of toadyism the Underwood and Adamson bills may be hailed as the guardians of American enterprise and of American labor."

"We were told that business had been relieved from a nervous fear of the courts. I think our opponents are a little out of their reckoning. It is not our nervous fear of the courts that makes honest business nervous, but fear of vague legislation; of two-faced laws passed by compromising lawmakers, intended to mean one thing to one group and quite another to another group, leaving to the courts the difficult task of interpretation—after election; it is the dread of vindictive governmental administration; of an administration which treats business men as suspicious characters, of government by hold-up; of the placing of our highest departments on a basis of mere partisan expediency; of effort to secure the votes of this or that group at the expense of the principles of our institutions."

"It is these which give rise to the anxieties of honest business, and not the terror in the institutions which administer justice and maintain the stability of the country. It is no time to set up stunts at the courts. We want to perfect legal procedure; but let us not put upon our tribunal either the burden of administration or vague legislation."

After reiterating his views on the tariff, Hughes said:

"As I look upon the American of the future, the question is not at all what office you hold. There are some people who think that it is a great thing to hold high office, and some who think that it is a great thing to observe affairs, and I tell you that the office means the burden of responsibility—every moment—and there isn't any satisfaction so far as I can see in having anything to do with public office, except with the idea that you are helping things ahead, and dealing with things that are of some service and of some benefit to your fellow man. That is all there is to public service."

The nominee again assailed the administration for the enactment of the Adamson law.

"The great object," he said, "is to get things settled right, and you cannot get things settled right unless you attend to them in the right way."

I say that if there is any grievance, whether it affects labor or capital, that comes before me the event of my election, I propose to get the very last fact and to understand it as well as it may be understood."

The nominee went through industrial cities of Ohio yesterday, making the protective tariff his chief theme of discussion. Before audiences at East Liverpool, Wellsville, Steubenville, Minero Junction, Dennison and Zanesville he declared that America was not prepared to meet the commercial competition of an energized Europe after the war and that American industry would suffer in these days were it not protected.

1,000,000 foreigners pour into America every year. 30,000,000—a third of our population—are foreign born or children of foreigners.

What is becoming of this multitude? Will it be American or will it stay a great alien menace in our midst?

What will become of America? Will our children or our grand children be Americans at all?

The greatest leaders and thinkers of today agree that this is the gravest problem in America today. What are we going to do about it?

—A Novel of Americanism

is a brilliant and powerful story on this question, that begins in the November number of Hearst's Magazine.

America trying to find itself—is Mr. Churchill's theme. The maelstrom of readjustment—the social cataclysm that is inevitable from the clashing of so many races and creeds and opinions—is the stage and setting he has chosen. Both surely offer material for a vital story.

His chief characters are two young girls, Janet and Lise—buffeted and tempted by powers so much bigger than themselves but triumphant because they tried to do right.

You cannot afford to miss a novel by Mr. Churchill on such a subject. Be sure to get the first installment in on the ground that the certified check accompanying it was not in the prescribed form, and for the further reason that his bid was accompanied by a note in which he said that if the entire contract should be awarded to him he would do the work for 1 cent a cubic yard, or 2 cents a yard cheaper than Kealey's bid.

The Indiana Dredging Co.'s bid, also lower than Kealey's was thrown out because it was not in duplicate, was not enclosed in the proper number of envelopes and contained an accompanying note which bid on a larger portion of the work than the specifications called for.

In submitting the bids to the board, Engineer Smith reminded the board that it had the right to ignore such technical formalities and consider all the bidders as eligible. The board awarded the contract to Kealey and soon afterward, without asking for additional bids, it extended this contract so as to cover the entire 47,000 feet of the canal.

Basing their figures on an estimate that 1,000,000 cubic feet of earth will be excavated on this job, the opponents of the present Levee Board administration say there would have been a saving to the taxpayers of $40,000 if the contract had been awarded to Brown on his low bid of 6 cents a cubic yard.

Back To the Bread Line If Wilson's Tariff Is Not Repealed

PRESIDENT WILSON: You are boasting to the voters, through your Department of Commerce and Bureau of Labor, what your Administration and Congress have done for American wage-earners in work provided and payrolls increased for them.

One of your Labor Bureau Bulletins tells of the hundreds of thousands of unemployed bread-winners put to work in the latter part of your term.

But it is a fact, and you know it is a fact, that all of these bread-winners had full employment when you took office and lost that employment by reason of the tariff legislation enacted at your dictation.

You know it is a fact that in the fall of 1914 those hundreds of thousands of American wage-earners were out of work because of the tariff, framed, enacted and put into operation under your personal supervision and at your behest.

It is a fact, and you know it is a fact, that while foreign goods were checked from pouring into our markets by the American tariff system of the Republican party, this country bought abroad in 1912, $581,000,000 less goods than it sold abroad.

It is a fact, and you know it is a fact, that in the first six months of 1913, during four months of which you were President, but during all of which the Republican tariff was still in operation, our imports were $286,000,000 lower than our exports.

It is a fact, and you know it is a fact, that in the whole year of 1913, during ten months of which you were President, but during only three months of which your tariff was in operation, our imports were $691,000,000 lower than our exports.

But it is a fact, and you know it is a fact, that in the first six months of 1914, with your tariff in operation all those months, this country followed the deadly path of larger and larger imports, driving American industries out of business and American wage-earners out of work, in favor of foreign capital and foreign labor.

It is a fact, and you know it is a fact, that in January 1913, under the Republican tariff, we sold abroad, $64,000,000 more than we bought abroad; but in January 1914, under your tariff, only $49,000,000 more.

That in February 1913, under the Republican tariff, we sold abroad $44,000,000 more than we bought abroad, but in February 1914, under your tariff, only $25,000,000.

That in March 1913, under the Republican tariff, we sold abroad $31,000,000 more than we bought abroad, but in March 1914, under your tariff, only $4,900,000.

That in April 1913, under the Republican tariff, we sold abroad $53,000,000 more than we bought abroad, but in April 1914, under your tariff, we bought abroad $11,000,000 more than we sold abroad.

It is a fact, and you know it is a fact, that in the five months from April to August 1913, inclusive, under the Republican tariff, we sold abroad $218,000,000 more than we bought abroad, but in the corresponding months of 1914, under your tariff, we bought abroad $39,000,000 more than we sold abroad.

It is a fact, and you know it is a fact, that your tariff ceased to work havoc with American industries and business and to impoverish American labor only when the war came to dam off, at the source abroad, those cheap labor imports which you had allowed to flood our markets.

It is a fact, and you know it is a fact, that it was the war which put our wage-earners back to work, in spite of your tariff, but that the moment the war stops thousands of munition plants will go out of business and hundreds of thousands of wage-earners employed in them will go off their payrolls.

And more,—that many other industries now supported by the day and night activity of our munition plants and by the vast earning power of the wage-earners in them will be compelled to close down in part or in whole.

Then when those hundreds of thousands of our own wage-earners suddenly lose their employment and the twelve to twenty million wage-earners of the Old World now engaged in war return to their normal occupations, and their surplus products of peace are allowed to flood into this country again as they were flooding in until the outbreak of the war, the work of ruining American industries, which was begun by your tariff before the war, must be completed after the war; the American wage-earners put into the bread-line by your tariff but taken out by the war, must, with peace restored, go back into that bread-line of your making in 1914.

Therefore, President Wilson, when you ask American wage-earners to vote, on November 7th, for your tariff, you ask them to vote to live in a Fool's Paradise of war trade, for some months or weeks, only to be plunged into the bread-line by your tariff immediately afterward back to the bread line.

Sutton Hints, That Even the Balls "Froze"

With an Old Deck

RAY'S COLUMN

Applied to Racing.

the racing game and the open-faced bookmaker's slate was in heyday, the "favorite" was the despair of the investor. Scheme and the speculator could not devise a system of doping the horses and stand up, in anything like 50 per cent of the cases.

In the long run, however, of the teams which figure one touchdown a better, 50 per cent will be found to win out. Get the angle?

Here's a Rattling Game.

In the list of important battles scheduled next week, and mentioned in yesterday's Post-Dispatch, one of the best was overlooked—thanks to the microscopic type used by the guide printers. This is a battle royal between Notre Dame and the Army—two fighting eleven-year in and year out.

Last season Notre Dame came through a winner and this year the Catholic eleven promises to show the Army another whirl at high life.

Exists in Football.

when you come to football, you are getting right down ideal. In the sense that all active scores are exact, football does not exist. But when scores are treated under the reason, they yield information which applies with an astonishing accuracy of exactitude.

Team	Won	Lost	Tie	Per.
14-40	35	9	2	.796
19-43	28	16	5	.728
10-57	45	9	2	.833
12-146	104	28	10	.771

percentage is figured with the t. Many of these were picked merely close. Some of the victors as those of Princeton and last Saturday, were really a for "dope," converted into deities the weaker eleven won by of Dame Fortune.

Averages 80 Per Cent.

you know any other sport in which form figures, plus information to be obtained by reading almost metropolitan newspaper, the win can be named in advance, 80 times out of 100.

That's practically what happens in football, annually. For last year the result was obtained by following the same system.

What the "dope" will NOT do, in football, is this: Indicate an absolute win.

Yesterday's Fight Results

New York—Billy Mike of St. Paul shaded Battling Levinsky in sensational 10-round bout at Brooklyn.

New Orleans—Bobby Waugh, Texas demon, won from Ernest Lucien, in the tenth round of their 20-round bout when Lucien's seconds threw up the sponge.

Pittsburgh—Edward Morgan, featherweight champion of England, came near being knocked out in the third round of the bout with Young Goldie. Morgan came back strong in the last two rounds and earned a draw.

Philadelphia—Low Tandler defeated Dick Leadman in a fast bout.

Lancaster, Pa.—Billy Wells of Lancaster won popular decision over Al (Knockout) Wagner of Philadelphia in six rounds. Young Russell shaded Frankie Williams.

Reading, Pa.—Joe Tubor earned a decision over Terry Ketchell in six-round bout. Johnny Marx defeated Archie Bob Givler.

Nick Young, Former Head of National League, Is Dead; Had Retired in 1903

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Nicholas E. Young, an old-time baseball player and formerly president of the National League, died at his home here early today. He had been employed in the Treasury Department for some time.

Mr. Young was born in Amsterdam, N. Y., and was 74 years old. He played professional ball with the old Nationals of Washington in the sixties, later with the Chicago club of the Union League, and was at one time manager of the Lord Baltimore Club of Baltimore.

He became president and secretary of the National League in 1881 and held that position until 1903, when he retired and was succeeded by Harry Pulliam.

Mr. Young had been an invalid for four years but until that time attended most of the games played by the Washington club here.

In fought Buddy Doyle in 12 rounds, Doyle was given a decision by Referee Mike Slover.

Webbscocker, R. I.—Soldier King of New York fought 10-round bout with Jack Savage of Boston.

Youngstown, O.—Milburn Sawyer defeated Willie Beecher in 12-round bout. Beecher's right arm was injured in the second round.

SPORT SALAD

Beautiful Billiards.

THE outlook wasn't brilliant for a billiard game, that night. The rain came down in torrents and the crowd was rather light.

When Brother R. B. Benjamin's little speech had made, the rules were promulgated and the balls were duly weighed.

It wasn't as exciting as some battles we have seen. Where nighty gladiators copped each other on the head.

Then from three hundred throats or more there rose a lusty snore, like echoes from a sawmill or a lion's snoring.

Yes. It was a fair little match, but Peterson could probably have beaten 'em both in the same time.

After the first few innings Mr. Sutton sat in Hoppe's corner, where the light didn't disturb him so much.

The feminine portion of the crowd seemed to enjoy the entertainment. She was game and stuck to the finish.

Sutton played an uphill game, and stalled before he got halfway up. He hopes to get rolling tonight and recover some lost ground.

Foolish Question Box. WHY did Esau sell his birthright for a mess of pottage?—May Wheat.

Well, as we get it, Esau was pretty hungry and the pottage smelled pretty good and as his birthright wasn't getting him anywhere he thought he was making a pretty fair bargain.

Who was John Smith?—Bill Jones. John Smith was one of the early settlers of Virginia. He was discovered in the act of settling Virginia by Powhatan, his Indian chief. Powhatan was about to swing on John with a club when Pocahontas, the chief's beautiful daughter, intervened and saved his life. The club is on exhibition in the Smithsonian Institute, which takes its name from this historical relic.

What is the difference between the "American" and "English" plan of living at a hotel?—H. J. Livingston. From $3 to $5 a day. It depends upon where you eat.

What is the mean temperature of St. Louis?—Adam Hardywinter. Ten below zero, but you have no overcoat.

Gentlemen, Be Seated.

TAMBO.—Mr. Bones, why does a minstrel man, when he goes to a hotel, always take a room on the top floor?

BONES.—I am at a loss, Mr. Tambo, to account for the remarkable predilection on the part of the gentlemen of our profession for a room on the topmost floor of the caravansary which he elects to favor with his patronage. Kindly elucidate.

TAMBO.—Because the higher the lower. Mr. Hy Low, the famous baritone tenor, will now sing the latest Hawaiian knockout, "It Makes Me Feel So Itchy When They Play the Wichi Kichi on that Honolulu Ragtime Band."

Edmunds Develops Plays.

Catch Edmunds wrestling with the Flanagan situation yesterday, confining most of his effort to building an attack for the Michigan game. He will have little scrimmage this week, but will spend some time in the perfection of a forward pass. Washington's only chance against the Wolverines is to play an open game, with a liberal number of punts. Lawrence is being around for the kicking job and his work last night was encouraging. The Flanagan will depart Friday and will be accompanied by a big delegation of rooters, despite the shooting of the Michigan men so far. Ann Arbor have attracted a crowd in spite of the roasts prospects for a decisive Michigan victory.

Omar Omar Omar Omar

It's as jingly as the woodchuck who would chuck wood. You can't get it out of your head. You write Omaromar. You smoke Omar. Always you get aroma

You smoke Omar for the smooth, rich fragrance. You smoke Omar for its live, aromatic quality. And Omar aroma is more than unusual, it is unique.

Omar—the perfect Turkish blend. Even the words blend.

"It's the Omar-Aroma that counts"

THE POST-DISPATCH'S DAILY RECORD

STOCKS REFLECT FIND TONE IN LATE TRADING

U. S. Steel and Other Issues
Score Fair Gains; Dealings Fairly Broad.

By Leased Wire From the New York
Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The Evening
Post in its copyrighted financial review today says:

"Discussion of the Steel Corporation's earnings, of the possibility of trouble over the latest submarine incidents and of the aspects, new and old, of the political situation, absorbed the greater part of the stock market's time and attention today and dealings on the Exchange were unsettled and barren of special significance. Individual stocks advanced,
some of them sharply, while fractional advances were numerous, but the market displayed no great steadiness, and the trend was altered several times during the day.

"In the foreign exchange market prices moved sharply against several European centers, notably Petrograd and Vienna. Search for immediate causes of the decline is perhaps less fruitful than to bear in mind the present primacy of this country in finance and trade.

"Out of the abundance of gold which is still coming in from abroad,
the local Federal reserve bank is realizing its desire to 'mobilize' at least a part of the metal in its own vaults. The $5,000,000 received from Canada today went to the Government institution, as did some $10, 000,000 last week.

"It may be suggested that the general banking community, troubled as it has been by the excessive imports of gold, probably is very willing to see part of the metal disposed of in reserve banks, with the comparatively sterile stores which can hardly be used as the basis for expansion of credit except on the demand of the member banks themselves.

"The relation between the Federal reserve banks' gains in gold and their note account is rather vividly
illustrated by the fact that of $214,
000,000 notes outstanding only $15, 300,000 constitute a liability of the banks, the remainder having been offset, dollar for dollar, by gold.

The New Foreign Bonds.

"Mr. Davidson's statement regarding the, in his opinion, unimpeachable security of the French and English Government bonds placed in this country, barely enunciates the judgment of every experienced financier. It would scarcely have been necessary but for three facts—the slowness with which our public has accustomed itself to such investments, the still existent talk of
"economic exhaustion," and "repatriation of funds," and the recent requirement of collateral on short-term loans made to France and England.

"As to the first consideration, time will possibly solve the present difficulties. As to the second, the idea that the richest European nations are to go bankrupt over an interest charge of 50 cent, or that they will refuse to pay at that very future moment when access to the credit facilities of other nations will be of paramount importance, is undiluted nonsense.

"The lower issue price and increased interest rate on the more recent loans of the belligerents merely conform to a principle long and widely in the case of borrowing by our own greatest corporations. Let the credit of such a borrower be absolutely unquestioned, the issue in unusually rapid succession of a series of large loans has always called for larger inducements to investors—not at all because of fear of bankruptcy, but because the immodiate absorbing power of the group of investors usually relied on has been reduced by previous absorptions, and because, therefore, other and new groups must be attracted.

"This perfectly well-known fact, along with the other fact that investors usually want better terms for a short loan than for a long one, has largely accounted for the practice of our railways during a dozen past years in putting out what they called "collateral notes." The alluded Powers have this year adopted the same practice, with results of no great advantage to both borrower and lender."

DETAILED REPORT OF DAY'S TRADING IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—

Irregular price changes at today's opening indicated a calmness of the market marked the previous day's operations. Motors and autos, the equipment issues were lower by fractions, to over a point, together with Marine preferred and the metal group recorded a moderate setback. These were underlain by fractional advances in United States Steel common and preferred, Rock Island, Indian Alcohol and Colorado Fuel, Union Pacific, Reading and a few other leaders. Later quotations were mainly in the direction of higher levels.

Except for the motors the market assumed a more confident air before the end of the first hour. A calmness of the market demanded at a gain of a point with Crucible and American Steel, General Electric and Baldwin Locomotives, General Electric and Westinghouse, Alcohol, American Smelting and American Zinc, fertilizers and paper issues, became very active at noon and of 1 to 2 points with a new record for American Writing Paper, preferred in 50 cents. The reaction of Rock Island and Canadian Pacific caused some restraint in other branches of the railway division. Bonds were steady.

The paper, fertilizer and more obscure specialties continued the conspicuous feature of the intermediate session, with an increased activity for United States Steel and allied issues at further moderate advances. Rails and other standard stocks lagged.
